Numerous state government agencies lead efforts to address complex issues presenting daily challenges for many North Carolinians. Many philanthropic organizations are similarly focused on these issues in their work to enhance quality of life and well-being in the communities they support. In this Monthly Connect, representatives of state government and philanthropy will share the work their organizations are leading to tackle statewide challenges related to complex issues, including child care and early education opportunities, affordable housing, rural communities' access to public and private grants, and workforce development. They will share examples of cross-sector partnerships that have leveraged each partner's resources to maximize impact and discuss potential future opportunities for the two sectors to collaborate. There will be time for Q&A.
