INTRODUCTION

Executive Order No. 70, Rules Modification and Improvement Program, outlines regulatory principles intended to guide North Carolina's rulemaking and establishes the Rules Modification and Improvement Program (RMIP) as a framework for reviewing existing rules.

During the 2011 Session, the North Carolina General Assembly passed Senate Bill 781 that amended the APA to include a set of regulatory principles akin to those set in Executive Order No. 70 (G.S. 150B-19.1) and to codify the RMIP process laid out by Executive Order No. 70 (G.S. 150B-19.2). The amendments became effective October 1, 2011 and mandated all agencies to adhere to the regulatory principles and participate in the RMIP. The APA directs the Office of State Budget and Management (OSBM) to coordinate and oversee the RMIP and to publish an annual report by April 30 on its progress.

The RMIP is intended to evaluate, and amend or repeal, where necessary, existing rules and associated requirements that are unnecessary, unduly burdensome, or inconsistent with the regulatory principles. To accomplish these goals, the RMIP is required to solicit input through two separate paths:

1. Invite public comment on whether any existing rules, implementation processes and associated requirements are unnecessary, unduly burdensome, or inconsistent with the regulatory principles.
2. Direct agencies to undertake an internal review to identify existing rules and associated requirements that are unnecessary, unduly burdensome, or inconsistent with the regulatory principles.

Section 1 of this report provides information on public comments received from November 2011 through October 2012. Section 2 presents reform recommendations from this year's internal review of existing rules conducted by the agencies. And Section 3 provides an update on the RMIP rule recommendations, both from public comments and agency internal review of rules, contained in previous RMIP reports.

SECTION 1: NEW COMMENTS AND REFORM RECOMMENDATIONS

PUBLIC COMMENTS

As mentioned above, the RMIP requested public comment on specific rules, implementation processes and associated requirements that are unnecessary or unduly burdensome. From November 2011 through October 2012, 223 public comments were submitted in response to the solicitation.

After receiving the comments, OSBM evaluated each with respect to whether (1) it may be rule-related and (2) may have potential merit. Of the 223 total comments evaluated, 19 comments were determined to be possibly rule-related and have potential merit. Most of the comments addressed programs administered by the Department of Health and Human Services, Department of Environment and Natural Resources and the Department of Transportation (see Table 1). OSBM instructed the relevant agencies to review the merits of each of these comments and submit a response to OSBM by January 31. The response was to include a determination of whether the comment was indeed rule-related and if so, what further action was justified, if any. Further actions generally fall into three categories: repeal rules, amend programs, or study issues further. Amending programs can range from changing agency rules, policies, or guidance to pursuing statutory change. Studying further can include researching the validity of the comment and whether action is warranted. Table 2 summarizes the 19 comments and agency recommended actions.

Table 1. Number of New Comments with Potential Merit, by Agency

Agency	# Comments	% of Total
Dept. of Health and Human Services	6	32%
Dept. of Environmental and Natural Resources	5	26%
Dept. of Transportation	4	21%
Dept. of Commerce	2	11%
Dept. of Agriculture and Consumer Services	2	11%
Dept. of Justice	1	5%
Board of Cosmetic Art Examiners	1	5%
Total*	19	100%

* Some comments affect more than one agency, so the number of comments per agency may not add up to the total.

Table 2. New Public Comments with Potential Merit

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Agriculture and Consumer Services, Dept. of	3579	According to the commenter, the requirement that eggs be graded for size and quality in order to sell them as "Fresh" eggs or to sell to a local foods store is absurd. Grading services are expensive and difficult to obtain for small producers. Unless eggs are graded, egg producers cannot sell more than 30 dozen eggs per week, which results in a profit of less than $50. Commenter suggests requiring producer to label ungraded eggs but allowing sale. Commenter points out that neighboring states do not have such limitations.	No	N/A	No Action Necessary	The requirements mentioned in the comment are in the Egg Law, G.S. 106-245.15, and require legislative action to change.
Agriculture and Consumer Services, Dept. of	3841	The rules in 15A NCAC 18A .1200, and most of its associated sections, need to be revised and/or updated according to the commenter to capture changes in documents referenced within. Also, the dairy program should be reviewed due to gross inefficiencies in time and personnel management.	Yes	02 NCAC 09G	Study Further	First step was to get the rules transferred to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services; now, staff will be able to review for any necessary changes.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Commerce, Dept. of / ABC Com.	2824	Commenter takes issue with recent ABC rules requiring permits for taste tests serving alcohol. This creates a regulatory burden and may result in research firms decreasing the number of taste tests they perform in the state. The commenter also indicated some disagreement within the agency regarding interpretation of the rule.	Yes	04 NCAC 02S .0901	No Action Necessary	From the information in the comment, it appears the commenter can hold the tastings described without a permit. This comment may be related to a statutory requirement.
Commerce, Dept. of / DES	3163	Commenter takes issue with G.S.96-15 regarding Employers Appeal and with Division of Employment Security procedures.	No	Not Applicable	No Action Necessary	All parties aggrieved by an Unemployment Insurance (UI) decision/determination issued under G.S. 96-15 have the very same rights to appeal. Employers have no greater right to appeal than claimants for UI benefits. Furthermore, all prior ESC Regulations expired effective 12/31/12.
Cosmetic Art Examiners, Bd. of	3348	Current rules that limit the number of hours for which students can earn credits to 8 per day and 48 per week affect the ability of schools to conduct a productive and successful program are not justified according to the commenter. These rules create a burden on students who do not get full credit for 3-day 10-hour- a-day programs or for hours spent serving clients and on programs that want to be flexible to address student needs. Other states allow 10 hours per day or have no restrictions.	Yes	21 NCAC 14 T. 0701 (n)	Amend/ Repeal	The Board voted to change the rule to address the issue. The pending effective date is 4/1/2013.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	2766	Commenter wishes to extend a sanitary sewer line from the main dwelling on their property to a secondary structure, but was informed since the two structures are more than 100 feet apart, a new line is necessary. The commenter believes the additional cost is a burden and there should be exceptions to the rules.	Yes	15A NCAC 02T .0105,.0303-.0305	Study Further	The mentioned addition would require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - a permit at the connection point since it is no longer a single building discharging wastewater, which is deemed permitted, - a variance request if service lateral is less than 6 inches in diameter, - a deed restriction indicating the lot may not be subdivided or that upon subdivision an Owner's Association would be formed to manage the sewer system, - a letter of agreement prior to permit issuance accepting the flow from the downstream owner (MSD), and - compliance with all local codes and regulations. Agency recommends contacting DWQ at (919) 807-6383.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	3322a	Commenter argues NC should adopt California vehicle emission standards to help protect the environment and people's health.	Yes	15A NCAC 02D .1000;	No Action at this Time	G.S. 150B-19.1 and 19.3 restrict adoption of state requirements that are more stringent than federal requirements with listed exceptions. None of those exceptions apply.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	3917	A saltwater fishing license holder raises the issue of fishing trawls dredging the ocean too close to the beach and piers and decreasing the catch for other fishermen.	Yes	15A NCAC 03L .0101-0105	Study Further	Comment appears to address shrimp trawls, which are regulated under a fishery management plan ("FMP"). Marine Fisheries Commission adopts rules for all commercially and recreationally significant species or fisheries to ensure long-term viability. FMPs are reviewed by statute every 5 years, and if determined necessary, the division pursues a plan amendment.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of / Transportation, Dept. of	3323b	Commenter proposes that if a car fails to pass the car emission inspection, the car should not be able to pass inspection at other stations until the problem initially identified is remedied.	Yes	19A NCAC 03D .0546 also DMV License and Theft Policy and Procedures Manual	No Action at this Time	Comment relates also to G.S. 20-183 8B, 8C, 8D. DMV currently investigates vehicles that failed the emissions test and then pass it within the same day to ensure that those vehicles do not pass by using a surrogate vehicle. If so, DMV may issue fines to both the station and vehicle owner. DAQ has been providing reports to the Environmental Protection Agency Criminal Investigation Department (EPA CID) and the DMV for investigation monthly or reports on individual stations and inspectors by request. The DMV has been proactive in identifying and investigating stations and vehicle owners that have fraudulently obtained passing emissions inspections and several stations and inspectors have already been prosecuted.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of / Transportation, Dept. of	3397	Commenter argues that the ethanol that is present in most fuel is causing his car to fail the car emission inspections.	Yes	19A NCAC 03D .0550 and DMV License and Theft Policy and Procedures Manual	No Action Necessary	The federal government mandated a specific amount of renewable (ethanol) fuel be sold within each state, and states often have no other choice than to add ethanol to all or most of the conventional gasoline to meet their current quotas. G.S. 119-27.2 - requires labeling for pumps offering ethanol-blended gasoline for retail sale. G.S. 20 183.5 allows DMV to grant one-year waivers from the full requirements for vehicles that fails an emissions inspection. NC, along with other state governments, has asked the federal government to temporarily suspend the ethanol quota due to economic hardship, but USEPA denied this request.
Health & Human Services, Dept. of	2908	Commenter refers to an article in Charlotte Observer about poor sanitation grades in schools and questions the need of school health inspections if they do not result in any action.	Yes	15A NCAC 18A .2401 - .2421	No Action Necessary	School Sanitation Rules will not be amended at this time. Public awareness campaign will be considered.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Health & Human Services, Dept. of	3300, 3371, 3372	Commenters argue the rules related to nutrition requirements for schools lunches brought from home are nonsensical and the government is overreaching, especially given that some items served in cafeteria, like chicken nuggets, are questionable.	Yes	10A NCAC 09 .0901, .0902, .1706	No Action Necessary	Based on public comments, an opt-out provision was included in the rule. Rules became effective 12/1/12. When children bring their own food for meals and snacks to the program, if the food does not meet the nutritional requirements, the operator must provide the additional food necessary to meet those requirements, unless the child's parent or guardian opts out of the supplemental food provided by the operator as set forth in G.S. 110-91(2) h.1. If the child's parent or guardian has opted out but does not provide all food and drink for the child, the program shall provide supplemental food and drink as if the child's parent or guardian had not opted out of the supplemental food program.
Health & Human Services, Dept. of	3419	Commenter states that the current rules that require mobile food vendors (pushcarts) to be affiliated with a restaurant or commissary are burdensome for individuals starting in the business as restaurants are reluctant to allow the affiliation due to legal and insurance issues. Commenter suggests that removing the heavy restrictions, requiring on-site inspections, and writing citations to offenders not adhering to rules would be less burdensome and would lead to job creation.	Yes	15A NCAC 18A .2670	No Action Necessary	None provided.

Agency	ID#	Public Comment	Is the comment rule-related?	If rule-related, specify rule(s)	What action should be taken next?	Justify recommendation
Health & Human Services, Dept. of	3638	Commenter suggests that the Department look into setting a Certified Nursing Assistant-patient ratio given the physical and strenuous nature of the job, which sometimes require attending to 30 patients per shift.	Yes	Possibly, 10A NCAC 13D .2303 - assuming commenter is referring to nursing homes; unclear from the comment.	Amended - No Further Action Necessary	Amendments to this rule were submitted to and approved by the Rules Review Commission in December 2012. The rule was made consistent with the federal staffing requirement for nursing homes. The facility is required to provide sufficient staff to meet the needs of its residents. The amended rule is effective as of January 1, 2013.
Justice, Dept. of	2643	According to the commenter, recent Probation/ Parole Officer positions posted by the Department unfairly restrict eligibility for the position as they only consider people certified as Probation Officer I. The commenter, who is a Correctional Officer with a Bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice and working on a Master's degree in Criminal Justice does not qualify.	No	N/A	No Action Necessary	Job descriptions and minimum standards for hiring are established by the hiring agency. The Criminal Justice Commission rules do not disqualify individuals from certification because they have never been certified in that type of position before.
Transportation, Dept. of	2764, 3265	Commenters believe that car inspections are burdensome, outdated, and useless. Other states without inspections have not seen any repercussions as a result. One of the commenters brought up the issue of some inspection stations overcharging.	No	Related to statutes: §20-183.2 for Comment 1 and §183.7 for Comment 2	No Action Necessary	No action can be taken without revision to existing statute.

SECTION 2: INTERNAL AGENCY REVIEW

As part of the requirements stated in Executive Order No. 70, the Rules Modification and Improvement Program (RMIP), and the APA, agencies have two major responsibilities:

1. To conduct an internal review of agency rules to identify existing rules that were unnecessary, unduly burdensome, or inconsistent with the regulatory principles, and
2. To make a recommendation as to whether these rules should be repealed or modified (which can include an amendment or expansion).

REPEALS

Table 3 below lists the 261 rules that agencies determined should be repealed as part of the Internal Agency Review of Rules for this year's report.

HHS, Dept./ MHDDSAS	Unclear. Due to the overhaul of the MH/DD/SA system during the 2011 and 2012 legislative sessions, the Division anticipates many repeals; however, it is currently unknown which ones. The Division will study its rules to ensure they stay current with the legislative goals and intent and ensure the health and safety of our consumers.	Unclear	Unclear

HHS, Dept./ MHDDSAS	Unclear. Due to the overhaul of the MH/DD/SA system during the 2011 and 2012 legislative sessions, the Division anticipates many amendments; however, it is currently unknown which ones. The Division will study its rules to ensure they stay current with the legislative goals and intent and ensure the health and safety of our consumers.	Unclear	Unclear

SECTION 3: UPDATE ON OUTSTANDING ACTIONS FROM PREVIOUS REPORTS

PUBLIC COMMENTS

From October 2010 through November 2011, more than 2,000 public comments were received and reviewed for the 2011 and 2012 RMIP Reports. Of those comments, OSBM determined at that time that 345 comments could possibly be rule-related and have potential merit. Each agency was asked to evaluate the merit of and suggest further action for their respective comments. Based on the agency responses and information from outside experts, OSBM and the agencies recommended one of three actions: (1) amend the rule(s) in question, (3) study the issue further, or (3) take no further action.

Of the 345 comments mentioned above, 110 comments remained unresolved. Table 5 below shows some summary statistics on the different types of actions taken by agencies in the past year on the 110 comments that still had recommended actions of “Amend/ Repeal” or “Study Further” or agencies reported “No Action” had been taken on the comments as of the 2012 RMIP Report. Table 6 provides a more detailed update on agency actions on individual comments.

Table 5. Actions Taken in the Past Year on Previous Public Comments, by Action

Type of Action	# of Actions	% of Total
Amended/ Repealed	10	9%
Study Further	21	19%
No Further Action Necessary	53	48%
No Action	3	3%
No Response	23	21%
Total	110	100%

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Administration, Dept. of	625, 644, 663, 721, 783, 884, 914, 1035, 1041, 1047, 1057, 1063, 1080, 1085, 1125, 1207, 1216, 1219, 1271, 1304, 1310, 1411, 1415, 1518, 1592, 1603a, 1617	2011	Commenters expressed a variety of concerns about the state procurement rules. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> -E-Procurement rules are not generating savings for NC and should be eliminated. -State purchasing rules are outdated, expensive, and do not allow negotiation or flexibility. -North Carolina companies should be allowed to match prices with out-of-state companies. -Authorized state vendors should provide a better selection of items at more competitive prices. -Waiver of competition for used equipment saves money and should not be suspended. -New vendors should be allowed access to state furniture contract. 	Amend - The State has recently begun a comprehensive "Procurement Transformation" initiative to develop and implement best procurement practices across government. The initiative will completely review all aspects of procurement, including related statutes, rules, and policies. These suggestions will help inform the initiative.	No Action	No Response	None provided.
Administration, Dept. of	786, 794, 992, 1033, 1099, 1147, 1284, 1433, 1537, 1596, 1627	2011	Minimal mileage requirements for leased vehicles need to be updated to encourage fuel conservation. Currently, state employees either avoid using fleet cars and get reimbursed for using their own cars, or drive around without purpose to meet the minimal mileage requirement.	Amend	No Action	No Response	None provided.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Administration, Dept. of	1002	2011	Sending environmental assessments to the state environmental clearinghouse for additional review yields significant delay and questionable benefit.	Study Further	No Action	No Response	None provided.
Administration, Dept. of	1794	2011	Commenter argues that Domestic Violence Abuser Treatment Programs are ineffective and should be eliminated.	Study Further	No Action	No Response	None provided.
Administration, Dept. of	1965a	2011	Community colleges have to go through laborious and complex construction review process that: 1) has too many phases with redundant material that need to be submitted, 2) has lengthy review times adding at least 150 days to the project, and 3) requires too much detail for cost estimates. Process needs to be streamlined.	Study Further	No Action	No Response	None provided.
Administrative Hearings, Office of	641	2011	Commenter argues that Rules Review Commission stops needed rules and should be eliminated.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	None provided.
Agriculture & Customer Services, Dept. of	1351	2011	Requirements for bakeries are inconsistent and unclear. Including a bread bakery in an existing business requires costly commercial equipment, while homeowners can just certify their non-commercial equipped kitchens to be able to sell bakery products.	Amend	No Action	Study Further	The Department will review to make sure any regulations that fall under the Department need to be amended.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Agriculture & Customer Services, Dept. of	1375	2011	Commenter argues direct purchase of cow's milk for human consumption should be allowed.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	A change would require a statutory amendment, which the agency believes does not have merit.
Appraisal Bd.	726, 1591	2011	Commenters believe current requirement for appraisal traineeships is being implemented poorly and should be eliminated. Commenters also believe the appraisal fee structure favors larger appraisal companies and should be reconsidered.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	Requirements are set in federal law and federal funds mortgage financing are contingent upon compliance. The Board eliminated the trainee examination requirement. Board disagrees that the fee structure favors larger companies.
Auctioneer Licensing Bd.	640	2011	The rules for the auctioneers have not been updated since 1973 and do not adequately account for online auctioneers.	Amend	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	After additional review by the Board's Legal Counsel, the agency feels that the Law/Rules do address online auctions. The definition of "auctioneering" addresses who needs a license whether the "auctioneering" is being conducted online or not.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Auctioneer Licensing Board/ Real Estate Commission	1523	2011	Commenter concerned with background and fingerprinting requirements and coordination among NC agencies. Commenter was required to submit fingerprint and background checks 3 separate times when applying for 3 different licenses and permits. Commenter suggests coordination to save money.	Study Further	No Response	Study Further	Auctioneer Licensing Bd.: No further action necessary; background check required by G.S. 85B-3.2, 93A-4. Real Estate Com. is exploring the need and alternatives for sharing criminal background check with other agencies. While the Commission has the authority to require fingerprinting in connection with background checks (G.S. 93A-4(b1), it does not do so.
Building Code Council	1551	2011	Plumbers should be allowed to plumb existing houses for grey water re-use in toilets and on yard surfaces for watering plants and not be restricted to sub-surface irrigation systems. Some dry western states even give homeowners tax credits for grey water re-use. Recent announcements for grey water re-use during the drought are inconsistent with plumbing code.	Amend	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	The BCC has adopted a new Appendix C1 (2012 NCPC) for rainwater recycling systems that may be used. Also, the ICC has adopted a Chapter 13 (2012 IPC) for gray water recycling that may be used as an alternate design. Both of these may be used now and will likely be included in the next NC Code Edition.
Commerce, Dept. of/ DES	615, 1833	2011	Commenter argues ESC rulemaking process should be reformed. Rules are unclear, inconsistent with statutory authority, and changes are made without public comment.	Amend	No Response	No Response	None provided.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Commerce, Dept. of	747, 964, 1223, 1525	2011	Commenters noted concerns with who can/cannot be permitted to receive and sell beer and alcohol. Commenters noted permit inequalities for private versus public entities, Bed and Breakfasts', and private citizens. Additionally, a comment argued the current permitting process was antiquated, time-consuming, and inefficient.	Study Further	Study Further	Study Further	The first and second concerns address statutory requirements. Regarding the last concern, the Commission has worked to streamline the permitting process within the confines of statutory requirements.
Commerce, Dept. of/ Banking Commission	1288	2011	Commenter believes banks should be required to pay penalties if they delay real estate closings.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	No statutory authority to require what comment suggests.
Community Colleges, Bd. of	1188, 1443, 1473	2011	Commenters raised a variety of concerns with community college rules. These included concerns about rules on residency for tuition, financial aid abuse, and the minimum age requirements for community college entrance.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	In-state tuition rates are within the purview of the Legislature. The Board has no authority to change Pell Grants federal rules, and believes the necessary safeguards are in place. Current rules expressly authorize colleges to admit into GED programs minors who are 16 or older and have a withdrawal form from the local educational entity and a notarized petition from the guardian. No federal or state law prohibits a college from imposing the 12 hours of online instruction.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Cosmetic Art Examiners, Bd. of	738	2011	Continuing education requirements for cosmetic arts licensees are too onerous. License renewal requirements should also be reevaluated.	Study Further	Study Further	No further action	These are statutory requirements not rule requirements.
Elections, State Bd. Of	1139	2011	Commenter argues submitting ballots by email should be allowed for U.S. military. Commenter believes current process requiring two people to sign an envelope is overly burdensome.	Amend	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	SL 2011-182 and SL 2009-537 Sec. 6 made the changes to GS 163-231 that the commenter desired. There is no need for a rule where the statute clearly allows the action. No action needed. Since 2009, only one witness for an absentee ballot is needed. See GS 163-231. Also GS 163-231 allows military voters to transmit their voted ballots by e-mail back to a county board of elections
Engineers and Surveyors, Examiners Bd. of	937	2011	Statute change is needed to allow surveying services from firms licensed in other states. NC is reportedly only 1 of 3 states with this type of restriction in place.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Out-of-state firms only have to meet G.S. 55B Prof. Corp. Act.

Agency	Comment ID	Report Year	Comment Summary	Recommendation	Agency Action in 2012	Status of Agency Action	Justification
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	618, 1006, 1527	2011	Risk-based assessment and corrective action should be applied to all petroleum releases, regardless of release source. Commenters also concerned with the lengthy review process for storage approval.	Study Further	No Response	No Further Action Necessary	State review is required by federal and state law. The Board for Licensing of Professional Engineers (PE) has indicated that underground storage tank (UST) system design plans must be sealed by a PE, so this is no required by the Department. If complete, pre-installation applications are reviewed within 30 days, or 2-4 days if there is emergency piping replacement or a modification, and post-installations requiring new permits within 2 weeks. The Department has implemented several compliance assistance measures to educate the regulated community.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	635, 790, 809, 989, 1232, 1365, 1484	2011	Commenters described various issues with the Coastal Area Management Act (CAMA) rules, including: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) the required letters of no objection for the single family home exemption process need to be improved or eliminated; 2) 30' buffer rule implementation needs improvement; 3) maximum pier length should be extended to preserve shallow bottom habitat; 4) rules are too far-reaching and implemented inconsistently; 5) land use plans are inefficient use of resources by local government. 	Amend	Study Further	Study Further	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Div. Coastal Management (DCM) is assessing the need for a rule amendment. 2) DCM and Div. Water Quality signed MOU simplifying buffer authorization for general and minor permitting in Tar-Pamlico and Neuse River basins. 3) DENR believes existing rules strike right balance between protecting shallow water habitat, ensuring obstruction free navigation and recreational use, and allowing pier access to deep water. Individual CAMA permits exist for longer piers and docks meeting certain conditions. 4) DCM tries to ensure consistent rule application given unique factors of each site and holds multiple training sessions for permitting staff. 5) Land-use plan requirement for coastal counties is statutory. Agency is reviewing the land use planning guidelines and planning training for staff and a series of "listening sessions" in early 2013 to evaluate local experiences with CAMA land use planning.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	671, 820, 1635, 1644	2011	Commenters believe the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit and fee process need to be reexamined. Commenters argued the time and expense associated with meeting the engineering study requirements are overly burdensome, particularly for smaller NC towns. Also argued the recordkeeping and erosion control costs were excessive and unnecessary. Commenters also recommended an "inactive status" option for permits, allowing businesses to temporarily suspend monitoring and avoid new permitting when active again.	Study Further	No Action	No further action necessary.	The engineering alternatives analyses are essential to ensure public monies are appropriately spent and environment is protected. Evaluation of connection to existing facilities and the accompanying economies of scale in wastewater treatment technology can have a huge cost benefit to the public. Construction sites where construction has halted and that are stabilized may request a waiver from monitoring under the construction permit. When construction resumes, there is no requirement to get a new permit if the sediment and erosion control plan are the same.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	694	2011	Commenter would like a combined fishing license for freshwater and saltwater fishing.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	There are 13 different licenses for fishing in both freshwater and saltwater. They range from no-cost subsistence waivers to nonresident lifetime licenses of $1,350. These licenses are available at any Wildlife Resources Commission or Division of Marine Fisheries sales outlet.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	733	2011	Recent rules added combustion sources to NC Air Toxics, causing small pollutant emission sources (such as small engines and water heaters) to be subject to costly requirements. Federal rules already regulate these emission sources.	Amend	Study Further	Amended/ Repealed	S.L. 2012-91 exempted sources subjected to MACT and GACT regulations from the state air toxics program; codified existing Director's call requirements; required review of rules and their implementation; and required reports on implementation its requirements. S.L. 2012-91, the stakeholder meeting that followed, and ERC actions have resulted in proposed changes to the air toxics rules, which are in the rulemaking process.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	752	2011	Commenter argues the cost of wetland mitigation fees are excessive compared to costs associated with Ecosystem Enhancement Program.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	These fees are set by rule by the Environmental Management Commission. A current exhaustive study of cost was done across the state. Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	753	2011	Commenter argues the stream buffer rules should be reduced.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Published and peer-reviewed scientific literature indicates that a 50-foot buffer provides the most effective nutrient removal. The studies also show that past 50 feet of a buffer, the nutrient removal effectiveness levels off. References are available at: http://www.rivercenter.uga.edu/publications.htm#r
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	756	2011	Commenter believes an exemption for the temporary placement of construction materials and equipment within a buffer should be allowed.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	The table of uses in Rule 15A NCAC 02B .0233 includes temporary roads in the buffers. The placement of equipment and materials in the buffer is not included because long-term storage of construction equipment within the buffer would contribute to soil compaction making restoration much more difficult for re-planted vegetation, which in turn might lead to permanent rather than temporary impacts and thus the loss of the water quality protection provided by the buffers.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	758	2011	Commenter argues all variances for Zones 1 and 2 should be approved by DENR staff as opposed to Environmental Management Commission (EMC).	Amend	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Staff currently review and approve as appropriate Zone 2 buffer variances. Based on past experience, it is appropriate to continue requiring variances within Zone 1 to be reviewed by EMC. Major Variance scenarios are unique and should be under the scrutiny of the EMC to determine if the variance meets the spirit and intent of the rules they approved. Having the EMC hear all the major variance request also allows for more consistency in how the buffer rules are applied in the most sensitive zone of the buffers.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of/ Agriculture and Consumer Services, Dept. of	780	2011	Commenter believes rules should allow food waste from schools to be used by farmers.	Study Further	No Response	Study Further	Rules administered by the Food Protection Branch pertain to food for pay. Compost issues are addressed by a different Division within DENR, while animal feed is regulated by the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	808	2011	Commenter believes rules governing "Off Highway Parks" for off road vehicles should be reviewed.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	An Off Highway Park is a facility that would potentially impact wetlands, streams and buffers, with serious potential for sedimentation issues. Parties interested in pursuing such developments in this state should be duly required to follow the rules as would any other public or private entity. A private individual is not prevented from developing such a park on private property, in which case it would simply be subject to the same rules as all other commercial enterprises.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	929, 1081	2011	Commenter argues that waste treatment and stormwater permits require inefficient soil and site evaluation by state and local government. These evaluations could be performed more efficiently by the private sector.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	It's unclear what is being requested. When some stormwater permits (depending on best management practice employed) require soil work, this is done or contracted by the permit applicant (private sector).

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1116	2011	Commenter concerned that classifying reclaimed water as "waste" limits the ability to use reclaimed water in more applications.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	The Clean Water Act provides the basic definition of "wastewater" and the agency must follow that definition. Division of Water Quality is continuing to refine reclaimed water rules to allow uses that are consistent with public health and environmental protection. Highly treated wastewater may still be used for many kinds of reuse even though it is considered "wastewater" when it leaves the wastewater treatment plant.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1119	2011	Commenter concerned about the costs, particularly to smaller water systems, associated with recent changes to the rules governing public water systems.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Prior rule required operators to test water quality daily but enforcement was not uniform. To address compliance while balancing the pressures on operators, the agency issued a rule to allow less frequent operator visits based on system complexity and its treatment. With regard to the fiscal note, there were cost savings from the new rule, but the agency also calculated costs based on data from one regional office with a 50% compliance rate with the old rule so that systems coming into compliance would have some elevated cost.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1143, 1647	2011	Commenters expressed several concerns with the inconsistency of various groundwater and drinking water rules. Commenters also concerned with size of impact on private sector and ability to conduct recycling activities due to groundwater standards more stringent than federal drinking water standards.	Study Further	Study Further	Study Further	The EMC has recently taken actions that will allow for less stringent groundwater standards under specific conditions. The comments also discuss modifications to the rules governing groundwater remediation. There are a variety of provisions that could be used to address some of these concerns and DENR is willing to investigate the impediments to utilizing these provisions.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1159	2011	Requirement for local government to compost leaves at central compost facility in city is expensive and does not eliminate the hazards posed by fertilizers. Commenter suggests suspending requirement.	Amend	Study Further	Amended/ Repealed	The Solid Waste section has made the determination in response to this comment to allow limited volumes of leaves to be sent directly to end users rather than central compost facilities. The volume limit for leaves will be 30 cubic yards that are available for direct distribution to the public. Volumes in excess of 30 cubic yards will need to be managed at Solid Waste facilities prior to distribution.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1189	2011	Commenter argues rules adopted to satisfy federal requirements, such as the federal hazardous air pollutant rules, are often unnecessary. State should focus on rules suitable for North Carolina.	Study Further	Study Further	Amended/ Repealed	S.L. 2012-91 exempted sources subjected to MACT and GACT regulations from the state air toxics program; codified existing Director's call requirements; required review of rules and their implementation; and required reports on implementation its requirements. Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1220, 1538a, 1553, 1590, 1624, 1643, 1648, 1660, 1661, 1697b, 1797	2011	Several commenters were concerned about the overlap between DENR divisions. Commenters noted that the same things were inspected by both Div. of Water Quality (DWQ), which issues National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permits and then monitors discharge, and Div. of Land Resources (DLR), which inspects for sediment/erosion control measures. Commenters also cited cases where DLR issued a permit, and then DWQ issued a notice of violation for not protecting a stream on the site, which DLR did not even identify. Commenters suggested streamlining the process related to storm-water, wastewater treatment, watershed, and erosion rules to avoid having to get permits from three different divisions.	Amend	Study Further	Amended/ Study Further Improvements	Staff in the Central Office meet monthly to coordinate compliance activities. In 2011, DWQ and DEMLR updated their MOA to provide better consistency and coordination between the E&SC program and the NPDES Construction Stormwater Permit. DEMLR now can issue most approvals required for the construction stormwater general permit. Any formal reorganization will require additional study because of impacts beyond the sedimentation/ construction stormwater program.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1243	2011	Commenter concerned that recent court ruling will not allow a local government to regulate sludge (biosolids) in its borders. Commenter suggests additional regulatory language that would not prohibit local government from tightening sludge rules in its borders.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	This would require a statutory amendment. DWQ recommends local governments be allowed to adopt ordinances on land application of biosolids.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1262	2011	Commenter concerned that government is taking private land and that the rules for riparian buffers in mountains make using land difficult.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	There are no riparian buffer requirements in most of the mountain areas. The comment may be referring to the sedimentation control buffer required during active land-clearing and construction activity statewide. The agency is continuing to look at ways to accommodate land uses while preventing off-site sedimentation damage.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1418, 1540	2011	Commenters note that chlorophyll-a rules need additional study before being implemented and that current wastewater and stormwater discharge rules are already very stringent. Commenters argue that enacting more stringent limits would impose an undue burden on regulated entities.	Study Further	Study Further	Study Further	EMC has not adopted the proposed rules this commenter refers to and the Division of Water Quality is revisiting how nutrient overenrichment is determined. A plan for development of nutrient overenrichment criteria is underdevelopment and will be out for public review in March 2013.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1424	2011	The classification of yard waste runoff as industrial wastewater exceeds statutory authority. It is also burdensome and not supported by environmental testing.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Statutory authority to regulate is in Section 1.(b) of SL 2009-322. The classification of some discharges from yard waste compost sites as industrial wastewater affects 13 large yard waste facilities. A stakeholder process was conducted in 2010 and unanimous consent was reached including that some yard waste should be classified as wastewater discharges.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1464	2011	Commenter concerned about the health risks and costs associated with burning poultry litter and biomass.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	This comment related to previous legislation S.L. 2007-397 (aka Senate Bill 3-Renewable Energy Portfolio Standard) and not a rule.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1549	2011	Commenter requests clarification of sewer slope line definition. Commenter is particularly concerned about inconsistent guidance on this issue in areas with non-sloping topography.	Amend	Study Further	Study Further	Authorizations to Construct - The use of a uniform slope between manholes provides a consistent grade throughout new sewer line segments to the extent practicable with current construction practices. This concept has been an accepted wastewater industry standard with no formal definition that staff is aware of since early editions of Recommended Standards for Wastewater Facilities, commonly referred to as "Ten States Standards".

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1582	2011	Commenter suggests process to permit use of rainwater for cleaning could be improved.	Study Further	No Response	No Further Action Necessary	There are no rules that prohibit the use of rainwater (especially rainwater treated as described by the commenter) to wash down dog runs. There are rules that would require that the wash water be discharged to a treatment system since it would contain dog waste and that there be clear signage at the faucet and hoses indicating that it is not potable water; however, those rules do not preclude the use of rainwater to do the washing.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1593	2011	Division of Water Quality policy on gravel being considered impervious has led to unintended consequence of less gravel parking areas allowed by municipalities.	Study Further	Study Further	No Further Action Necessary	Gravel parking areas, roads, etc. are considered impervious because they are constructed on compacted subgrades and act over time essentially like an impervious area. Even water that may be stored for a period between the stone and the compacted soil will run off as it hits the compacted layer. The Division does allow impervious area credit for areas that are built with permeable paving alternatives. These systems do not compact in the same way and do allow for at least a portion of the runoff to infiltrate.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1607	2011	Osprey poles are classified as development, hence not allowed under Coastal Area Management Act (CAMA) within 75 feet of water's edge. A burdensome variance request needs to be requested to be able to install the pole. Commenter suggests exempting these structures from permitting.	Amend	Study Further	Study Further	Agency is still reviewing the issue.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1646	2011	DENR issues wastewater discharge permits (NPDES) for private construction and requires them to meet certain discharge limits. In addition, DENR approves construction plans with regard to waste-water discharge (Authorization to Construct, ATC, permit). Commenters argue this additional step is too burdensome and unnecessary and believe the licensed engineers who draw up the plans are more qualified than the non-licensed DENR approvers.	Amend	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	S.L. 2011-394 removed the requirement for private facilities primarily treating industrial waste or sewage from an industrial facility to obtain an ATC. Private development wastewater facilities still have to submit plans and specifications for approval. Some small engineering firms may not be familiar with current DWQ rules. Facilities owned by small homeowner's association or small privately-owner public utility has often limited resources to later correct design or operational deficiencies.

Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1651	2011	Commenter notes the North Carolina Division of Waste Management blocked adoption of an EPA definition of solid waste, resulting in substantial costs, less use of manufacturing byproducts, less recycling, inconsistency between federal and state rules, and additional landfill disposal. Commenter argues North Carolina should adopt the EPA definition of solid waste.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	The changed federal definition has been the subject of litigation and further review by EPA. The state agency opted to retain the existing definition in view of the uncertainty over the final resolution of changes at the federal level.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1652	2011	Commenter noted various concerns with proposed revisions to pretreatment rules. Commenter believes the Division of Water Quality's expanded definition of significant industrial user imposes unnecessary costs and burdens. Also argues the rules continue unnecessary review and approval of all permits and permit modifications and require more frequent sampling and record-keeping than necessary. Commenter also concerned that definition of "pass through" exceeds federal definition and that the submission for program approval section of rules is unclear. Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1710	2011	Commenter concerned about the financial strain placed on development projects due to coastal stormwater rule requirements on lots in older, historic communities.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	DENR recognizes there are some limitations when smaller projects become subject to coastal stormwater rules; however, the rules establish some thresholds for coverage to try and minimize impact to smaller projects. Projects disturbing less than 1 acre are not covered by the rule, although this threshold is lower for non-residential projects and projects near SA waters. When coverage is required, staff works with the projects to utilize all applicable management measure options for a reasonable permitting alternative.
Environment & Natural Resources, Dept. of	1924	2012	References the 60 to 90 day period DENR takes to permit closed loop geothermal heat pump ground loops with anti-freeze. HHS, Dept. of	719	2011	Critical Access Behavioral Health Agency (CABHA) rules were developed without going through the proper legal process. Commenter also argues the rule is not efficient for the provider or the consumer, is not transparent or legal in its implementation, and will not save money. HHS, Dept. of	1182, 1183, 1396	2011	Commenters noted various problems with the licensure rules for mental health facilities. Some argued the requirement for mental health facilities to separately designate beds for Alternative Family Living (AFL) services and respite services caused undue paperwork burden and delay in services. Others believe the AFL rules generally are unfair and abused. Others noted issues with the requirement to post an egress map in group homes.	Study Further	No Action	No Further Action Necessary	Note that the facilities subject to the licensure rules are businesses as well as group homes. Veterinary Medical Bd.	1142	2011	Allow "foreign graduated" and PAVE certified (Program for the Assessment of Veterinary Education Equivalence) veterinarians to practice in North Carolina without additional expensive test.	Study Further	Study Further	Study Further	This public comment relates to a statute, N.C.G.S. Sec. 90-187(c), and not an administrative rule. Therefore, any change would require legislative action and not a rules change. As reported last year, the Board has researched the issue of appropriate programs for graduates of non-accredited veterinary medical schools outside the United States to become eligible for licensure in North Carolina. Currently in the Veterinary Practice Act [N.C.G.S. Chap. 90, Article 11], the only recognized path is the American Veterinary Medical Association's Educational Commission for Foreign Veterinary Graduates program ("ECFVG"). A current alternative adopted by a number of other States is the Program for Assessment of Veterinary Education Equivalence ("PAVE"). The Board supports amending the Veterinary Practice Act so that PAVE would be an alternative method for graduates of non-accredited veterinary schools to become licensed in North Carolina.

Study Further	No Response	Study Further	WRC continually evaluates methods of take and balances competing interests. WRC is considering seeking statutory authority for regulation of manner of take and asking input from interested groups. WRC does not have statutory authority to adopt dog hunting rules east of the "dog line"; also, the regulation of hunting near sites where unprocessed food products have been placed is a point of contention. WRC is studying changes for hunting of bear near natural food placements based on public input.

REPEALS

During the internal review of existing rules for the 2011 and 2012 RMIP Reports, agencies identified a total of 1,340 rules that needed to be repealed from the NC Administrative Code. As of last year's report, there were still 1,252 rules that had not been repealed. Table 7 below summarizes the number of different actions taken by agencies in the past year regarding these rules. In summary, 42 percent have been repealed, and another 16 percent are in the process of being repealed. Table 8 presents repeal information by each agency, and Table 9 below provides more detailed information on each individual rule proposed for repeal.

¹ Rule was accidentally omitted from the 2012 RMIP report.

² Only Rule 15A NCAC 02H .0152 was amended.

³ Only Rule 15A NCAC 02L .0113 was amended.

⁴ Initially proposed for repeal in 2011 RMIP report.

⁵ Given the broad changes to the MHDDSA system implemented by the legislature and continuing implementation thereof, the Division is carefully studying the appropriate language necessary for this amendment.

⁶ Agency no longer believes the rule should be modified.
